

Dr Silvia Bressan

Silvia Bressan, MD, PhD, is a pediatric emergency physician and associate professor of Pediatrics at the University of Padova, in Italy. She trained in Pediatric Emergency Medicine in Italy, at the University of Padova, at the Rambam Health Care Campus, Haifa, Israel and at The Royal Children's Hospital, Melbourne Australia.

Her research has mainly focused on pediatric head injuries, fever, and, more recently, medical simulation. She has been a member of the Research in European Pediatric Emergency Medicine (REPEM) network since its inception and Secretary of REPEM between 2017 and 2022. She is the Chair of the global Pediatric Emergency Research Network (PERN) since 2022.