

Dr Francesco Martinolli

Francesco Martinolli is a pediatrician with a special interest in emergency care, in particular major trauma and its management. He studied medicine at the University of Padua and he finished his residency at the Women's and Children's Health Department (University of Padua) in 2017.

Currently he is a consultant at the Pediatric Emergency Department involved in the residents' training especially through advanced simulation.